3. THE ECONOMICAL HYPOCHLORITE *

"Dakin's solution is troublesome to make up and is expensive if professional time and overheads are included."

This extract from a recent report by an independent investigator helps to refute the theory, often advanced, that the hospital-produced hypochlorite is cheaper than Milton.

The truth is that when the cost of time and overheads is computed in addition to that of raw materials, there is little appreciable difference in the ultimate cost.

But even if there were a difference this would seem to be justified by the superiority of the standardised product, the stability and low alkalinity of which are guaranteed.

There is an increasing preference for Milton because it is an economical product and can always be relied upon. Thus, we find one surgeon irrigating the cavity of a cerebellar abscess with *Milton*¹, while others are using it in the treatment of extensive and deep burns.²

For reliability and economy the choice is Milton.

STAPHYLOCOCCI

and other ANTISEPTICS

THE miracle of Penicillin as a means of saving life and combating those Staphylococcal Infections previously so resistant as to be generally fatal, serves to focus attention on the extreme importance of Staphylococci as infecting organisms—an importance which is daily becoming more widely recognised.

Penicillin is not generally available and it is important that other agents highly lethal to Staphylococci should not be overlooked. It is not suggested that these other agents can replace Penicillin in every case for there are conditions for which Penicillin is unique. There are, however, many instances in which other agents than Penicillin can be employed for the destruction of Staphylococci either therapeutically or as a prophylactic. Such an agent is O-SYL.

O-SYL, unlike many other antiseptic substances, has a lethal action against Staphylococci identical with that for Streptococci. O-SYL is, therefore, par excellence, the antiseptic to remember where staphylococcal infections are in question.

Previous announcements have dealt with the several aspects of Staphylococcal Infections less generally recognised by Practising Physicians than by Research Workers. Reprints of such announcements dealing with:—

Proof that O-SYL is non-selective as well as being very highly potent against Staphylococci and Streptococci is found in the following figures:—

HIGHER CONCENTRATION OF THE ANTI-ANAEMIC FACTOR

New standard dose of 1 cc. equals 3-4 cc. of the original 'Examen' ● The new potency 'Examen' in 1 cc. ampoules, which now replaces the old (in 2 cc. ampoules) offers a still higher degree of concentration of the anti-anaemic factor. It is the purest and most potent preparation of liver yet provided by the research laboratory for the clinician; it sets a new standard in liver extracts. The increased retention of the anti-anaemic activity of liver means that 1 cc. produces the erythrocyte and reticulocyte responses formerly achieved with a dose of 3-4 cc. These responses satisfy the most exacting of published criteria.^{1,2}

The 1 cc. injection costs the same as the former 2 cc. but the increased potency makes the treatment of pernicious anaemia easier and less expensive for the patient.

Blackcurrant syrup in modern therapy

High content of natural vitamin C

Apart from its inherent virtues as a rich source of natural vitamin C, now increasingly recognised, Ribena Blackcurrant Syrup has a marked degree of acceptability by patients in many categories.

The food foibles of the delicate child; the fickleness of palate of the pregnant woman are equally met by the palatability of Ribena. In more exacting cases—e.g., patients with peptic ulcer—Ribena is tolerated in a measure that is pleasing to doctor and patient alike.*

Ribena contains not less than 20 mg. ascorbic acid per fluid ounce together with the associated factors of the natural vitamin.

★ Blackcurrant syrup is recommended as a vitamin C supplement in the Ministries of Food and Health publication "Diets for patients with ulcers of the stomach and duodenum."

HOSPITAL CLEANLINESS FOR YOUR COTHEES

Whether your visits to the Hospitals are occasional or are in the nature of regular attendances, you must have been impressed by the immaculate cleanliness of the large quantities of bed clothes, towels, and other washables, as well as the wearing apparel of the medical staffs in these great modern establishments. It may not have occurred to you that you may have in your own home the same degree of cleanliness that obtains in Hospitals by sending your Clothes for Washing to an up-to-date Laundry such as DEVONSHIRE; here the same specialized methods of washing are used, the same advanced equipment and the same expert care, with the same result hospital cleanliness.
